TALK OF STRIKES, HERE'S THE LATEST!

Harem attendants in Constantinople, Turkey, have gone on a strike for more money and shorter hours. Many of the capital's finest harems have been left unguarded and their owners are trying distractedly to find suitable substitutes for the strikers. Numbers of Russian refugees have volunteered their services but it was found they were not fitted for the job.

The strikers include the eunuchs hour day" and the unceasing vigil they are required to keep on the women of the harems justify better remuneration, especially during the present hard times. Many of them protest that their wages have not been paid for more than a year and in several instances they have appealed to the American committee on relief in the Near East for aid.

The fact is that their masters, who in most cases are officials or employees of the government, have not drawn any salaries for months. The strikers include the eunuchs and other attendants.

"OLD KENTUCKY HOME" DAY JULY 23

Stephen Collins Foster, composer of the most charming American folk songs, which have endured for more than three score years and will endure for centuries, who died January 13, 1864, would have been ninety-six years old on July 4.

Though his songs are known to the majority of citizens of his country, and practically all Southerners, little is ever heard of the composer of "My Old Kentucky Home," "The Old Folks at Home," "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground," "Open Thy Lattice Love," and others that bring back fond recollections to most of us. Tradition has it that "My Old Kentucky Home" was written at the old Judge Rowan home in Bardstown, Ky.

There has been considerable talk of having Old Kentucky Home days in every city in Kentucky. Arrangements have been made for a Kentucky Home day at Blue Grass Park, Lexington, Sunday, July 23, when all of Stephen Foster's songs will be presented by Grella and his orchestra.

NEWSPAPERS HELP KEEP STATE PRISONERS QUIET

Newspapers, circulated within the walls of the State Reformatory, at Frankfort, tend to keep the prisoners quiet and exert a big influence towards discipline, in the view of W. B. Fuller, chief clerk in the office of Warden Henley V. Bastin.

Practically 500 newspapers are circulated among the prisoners daily, Mr. Fulton said, and are read eagerly—news, advertisements women's page and all. One prisoner acts as agent for the papers. He distributes the papers and collects from his subscribers.

The practice of allowing prisoners to read newspapers, Mr. Fuller said, has been in vogue for about a year and during that time a great change has been noticed in the convicts. Heretofore, according to Mr. Fuller, they became boisterous at night and it was difficult to curb the noise. Now, however, they spend the evenings in reading the happenings of the world, their only connection with which being through the newspapers.

Some persons have contended, Mr. Fuller asserted, that newspapers exert a bad influence on convicts for the reason they read about crime and other sordid happenings. However, the chief clerk believes any bad influence that may be caused from the reading of crime is more than overcome by the prisoner's learning of the good in the world. "While they do read about crime," he said, "they also read about the good things in the world, too."

While the prison library contains about 2,500 volumes, the convicts show a preference for newspapers over other forms of literature, Mr. Fuller said.

High Price of Forgery.

Three hundred years ago forgery in Britain was punishable by death. In earlier times still, the punishment was standing in the pillory, having both ears cut off, having the nostrils slit and perpetual imprisonment.

THEY'RE EVERYWHERE!

There is to be found in every lodge and every other organization some individuals, commonly called soreheads. Everything that is proposed and done by some other members than themselves, is radically wrong, according to the viewpoint of the soreheads. Now usually this class of members is without influence or standing, and about the only noticeable thing they do in the community or their lodge is to agitate, or foment strife and dissension.
